Marine responsible tourism in Barcelona

WHO WE ARE

Oceanogami is an international consultancy and social enterprise specialized in ocean sustainability. We act as a liaison between companies, governmental and non-governmental organizations, research centers and other institutions that have a relationship with the marine environment. We provide consultancy services, build capacity, and create awareness for marine conservation. We take a multidisciplinary view, in which cultural, social and economic needs are integrated with environmental objectives to create sustainable solutions. We also believe in the importance of education and outreach and developing skills among the actors participating at any level in marine environmental management. Our core values are sustainability, education, communities and collaboration.

Anèl·lides Serveis Ambientals Marins, was born from an eagerness of creating an environmental education project where the ocean is the center of knowledge and outreach and promoting the city of Barcelona and the Catalan coastline. We offer workshops for schools, equipment and individuals. We divulge through environmental communication campaigns reaching all the people and institutions. We take care of free time, doing family activities, for young people and children teaching the sea in a playful way. We train and advise by offering tools and resources of marine specialized subjects. We take care of sustainable tourism, bringing it to responsible activities with the marine environment. We conduct studies of the coastline and research, to get to know it more thoroughly, prioritizing citizen science studies. We have a team of professionals with extensive experience in biology, environment and tourism.

OBJECTIVE

The objective of the project is to increase the awareness of marine debris and plastic pollution, by promoting marine environmental responsibility and the marine biodiversity of Barcelona in the tourism sector, as well as helping to find appropriate solutions for responsible tourism.
